Obtain a nationally recognised qualification through a workplace traineeship.

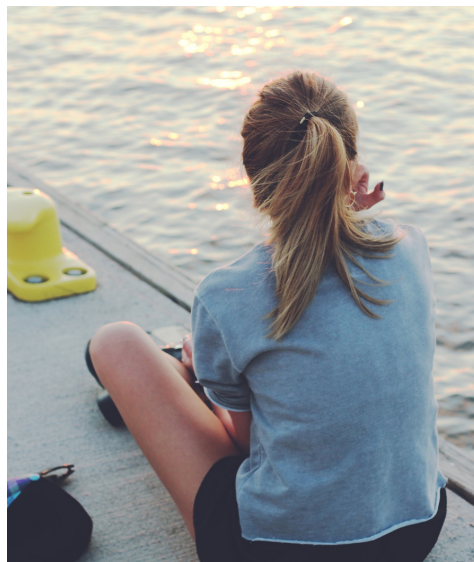

Eligibility requirements include: Permanent resident or citizen, work in a permanent role more than 15 hours per week. Fees are subsidised by the Tasmanian Government.

MENTAL HEALTH

The Australian Academy of Media's Certificate IV in Mental Health (CHC43315) course will equip you with the core skills you need to pursue a meaningful career in social work, focusing on helping individuals with mental health, mental illness or psychiatric disability issues.

The course is designed to develop your interpersonal and practical skills. Delivered by industry professionals, this is crucial if you are seeking to work more effectively in community services and social assistance.

YOUTH WORK

The Australian Academy of Media's Certificate IV in Youth Work (CHC40421) course is designed to develop your skills and expertise in creating and overseeing community-based initiatives that address critical social, behavioural, health, and protection needs for young people.

Delivered by experienced sector professionals, this qualification is essential if you are seeking to work more effectively and with more impact with our young people in need.

LEADERSHIP & MANAGEMENT

Effective leadership and management skills are a must to successfully navigate today's rapidly changing work environment.

These courses will drive you to refine your personal leadership and management skills, supporting you and your team to execute identified goals, improving your ability to excel in your role.

Study either the Certificate IV (BSB40520) or the Diploma (BSB50420) in Leadership & Management with The Australian Academy of Media and supercharge your career.

Start your traineeship with The Australian Academy of Media any time.

Fees are subsidised by the Tasmanian Government. A one-off $750 enrolment fee applies.
